

What Does a Government Shutdown Mean for San Diego?

Active duty military will go to work but may not get paid, and nonessential employees may be furloughed

By Brie Stimson and Alex Presha

Published at 10:53 PM PST on Jan 21, 2018 | Updated at 11:32 PM PST on Jan 21, 2018

CABRILLO COMPANY STORE
Quality Cabrillo gear, at affordable prices • Shop Now

eBranch Secure Login

Username:
Password:
Login

Forgot Password Cancel

eBranch Help

Apply for a Loan Message from Our CEO Member Poll

DEVELOPING STORY
NO DEAL TO END GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWN 11:07 53°

1:31 / 2:11 Share CC Fullscreen

Active duty military may not get paid and nonessential personnel might be furloughed. NBC 7's Alex Presha reports.
(Published Sunday, Jan. 21, 2018)

Now Playing Up Next

- What Does a Government Shutdown Mean for San Diego?
- NBC 7's Steven Luke Departs for the 2018 Winter Olympics
- RV Fire in Oak Park Spreads to Home
- Person of Interest Found Dead After Double Homicide in Chula

TRENDING STORIES

- VIDEO Man Who Sold Ammo to Vegas Shooter is Charged
- VIDEO Man Allegedly Kills Girlfriend and Aunt, Then Himself
- VIDEO Health Department Closes Popular Hispanic Market for Health Violations
- VIDEO Firefighters Quickly Contain 2-Acre Brush Fire in Escondido

SPONSORED

The 21 Most Exciting Flavors at Taste Washington
Promoted by Visit Seattle

Congress failed to strike a deal over the weekend to end the government shutdown, which means many federal employees in San Diego will be heading into the unknown Monday.

Active duty military personnel will continue to work – but they may not get paid – and nonessential employees could be furloughed. Also, places like Cabrillo National Monument, which is part of the U.S. National Parks Service, will be closed.

UPDATED Raging Fire Rips Through RV, Home in Oak Park

Jonathan Zide, the VP of Marketing at Cabrillo Credit Union, told NBC 7 they are offering a couple different short-term options to furloughed federal employees with zero percent interest.

WEATHER FORECAST

San Diego, CA

74° Broken Clouds
Feels Like 74°

Radar

Forecast

Maps

"This is the time where the rubber meets the road," he said. "People are afraid and rightfully so."

BREAKING Man Allegedly Kills Girlfriend and Aunt, Then Himself

Zide said employees won't feel the impact until their next paycheck, "but the reality is, between the time the furlough starts, we can come up with solutions for them."

Congress plans to vote on a short-term spending bill to reopen the government at 12 p.m. Monday.

- Things to Do This Weekend: Feb. 1-4

"The hope is that something gets hammered out Monday, and in the best case that it is, these are good conversations to go ahead and have with your financial institution," Zide added. "Maybe this is short-lived now, but it will happen again, based on what we've seen."

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Do you think Tom Brady will retire after the Super Bowl if the Patriots win?

- Yes
- No
- I have no opinion

NEXT

Insights powered by CivicScience | Privacy Policy

NBC 7 San Diego Mobile
Breaking News, Weather, Video & More

Whenever & Wherever
You Want

